

Notes for participants: All are welcome to join the Heart & Soul Singing Retreats. This means there will be a mix of people who have sung before and people who haven't and every other singing experience in between. My hope is that, in the peaceful and beautiful surroundings of Parcevall Hall and gardens, everyone will find a place to sing in the group that feels right for them.

The singing sessions are informal and I will teach each harmony part in a call and response way so that a song is built up in small and memorable portions. As we listen to each harmony part we build up a sense of the whole song and where we fit in.

Please resist chatting or joining in when I'm first teaching a song or going over a part for a group to practise. It's much easier for people to learn from just one voice, rather than several.

Towards the end of the Singing Retreat, I will take some time to record the songs we sing together, if everyone is comfortable with this.

Looking forward to singing with you all!
