

THE SPIRITUAL ASPECT OF COUNSELLING.

Friday June 21st 2019

Arrive 4pm

4.30pm Introduction to Parcevall hall, group's needs and tutor's outline of the course. No need to be familiar with counselling to participate, and there is no role play.

6.30pm Evening meal

8.00pm Further clarity on developing how the mind, body and soul interweave, and where in- depth counselling can support in the struggle for transformation through developing awareness of hurts and multi levels within. How to bring insight, and integrity, into all our relationships, though a better self relationship. (John Powell..."Love people and use things. Don't use people and love things".)

Saturday June 22nd

9.30am Looking at why and what creates illness, and how shutting the spiritual aspect out of our consciousness creates a more separative approach in our interrelationships. 'Three souls in every man'(R Brownie) has been observed over generations; and we will discuss this, and how self-reflection opens doors to our spiritual self.

10.30am Break

11.00am How we manage the emotional side of us, and find the real purpose of our journey, which throughout has shaped us: the roles we play, and the lessons we learn which has developed our character. Finding ways through conflict when, in some phases of sorrow, all we feel is darkness. ("Where there seems no way God will find a way"). How properly managed counselling has filled a gap in the human soul to soul communication.

12.30pm Lunch.

Afternoon free period.

4.00pm tea break

4.30pm. How we eventually discover the "unseen mover" behind our woes, and how healing is drawn through our troubled temporal self.

6.30pm. evening meal

8.00pm Questions and answers to date, relating theories to experience

Sunday June 23rd.

8.30am breakfast

9.30am Discussion on how the inner struggle reveals opposition in motives, and how the light of truth wins through the betrayals and negative forces to include rather than exclude.

10.30am Break.

11.30am How love grows as we seek and find greater healing: and how to value the importance of empathic listening in all relationships.

12.30pm Lunch

2pm Summary.

3pm end